Rock County Chapter of the Ice Age Trail Alliance

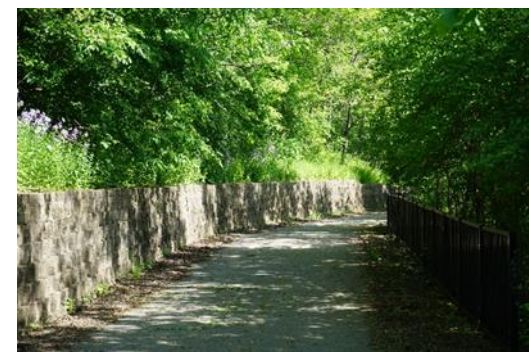

The Rock County Chapter of the Ice Age Trail is highly active in the promotion, planning, and maintenance of the Ice Age Trail in Rock County and state-wide.

As a Chapter, we host hikes and other activities, as well work with Rock County, the cities of Janesville, Milton, Evansville, the Janesville and Rock County Parks Divisions, and other organizations in Rock County.

The Ice Age Trail is built and maintained by volunteers. The Rock County Chapter is highly engaged in the creation and maintenance of the Trail in Rock County and the through the connecting communities of Milton, Janesville, and Evansville.

In Janesville, we partner with Janesville Parks and the Rock Trail Coalition to keep trails fresh.

Currently we host 64 miles of the Trail in Rock County

Ice Age Trail Communities

The Ice Age Trail Alliance has established the Ice Age Trail Community program, designed to help communities leverage the Trail as an economic and social engine, while promoting the Ice Age National Scenic Trail to community members and visitors alike.

Community commitment to this program represents an agreement to cross promote one another, building healthy and vibrant communities.

Janesville and Milton are the two Trail Communities in Rock County.

To be selected as a Trail Community they met the following criteria:

- community support for the Ice Age Trail and the Ice Age Trail Alliance is evident
- language for the protection of the Ice Age Trail is included in local land use plans
- involvement with the Ice Age Trail Alliance in a Saunters program, and
- a willingness to host volunteer-based events with the local chapter such as hikes and trail improvement

What if there was a magical path leading into a world where you could unwind after a long day? Retune your mindset? Recharge? What if you could go there with your kids to unplug and have a genuine conversation? What if it were just steps away from your front door - would you take it?

The Ice Age National Scenic Trail, when complete, will cross approximately 132 communities in 31 of Wisconsin's 72 counties.

The Trail goes through the heart of downtowns and runs past front doors providing adventure and renewal. Along the way, the Trail takes users to some of the best glacial features in the world.

The Ice Age Trail Alliance's Rock County Chapter invites you to take a little road trip. Come experience the charm of the Trail and celebrate the local character and flavor of the Janesville, Milton, Evansville Communities.
