The Alliance and its officers and directors and the Program sponsors, volunteers, and chapter officers and members (collectively, the "Alliance") wish to ensure to the fullest extent possible that they are not sued or held liable for injuries or damages sustained by participants or those participating in the Program. I make this release and agreement on my behalf of anyone else who would be able to sue if I were injured while participating in the Program.

I agree and acknowledge as follows (1) Participation carries with it some risk of serious injury. ("Indemnify" means to reimburse the Alliance for any amounts they have to pay and expenses/fees they incur due to an injury claim relating to me); (6) I have read this document and understand it.

If I am under age 18, my parent or guardian is signing on my behalf, and my parent or guardian also agrees to indemnify the Alliance if I, or anyone else, brings a claim against the Alliance due to injuries I receive due to my participating in the Program. With knowledge of the risks involved and the rights I give up, I waive the rights I might otherwise have and I freely sign this document.

Highlights of the Dane County segments

Travelling along the edge of a marsh, a lowland prairie and over limestone ridges shaped by the Green Bay Lobe in the Lodi Marsh Wildlife Area, your trek through Dane County from the north begins in the middle of the Eastern Lodi Marsh Segment that is highlighted by "Dave's View" and the nature trail that makes up the Lodi Marsh Segment.

Circling around a former farmstead that still includes a building from the 1870s, Springfield Hill includes a Dispersed Camping Area and is great for snowshoeing.

The IAT winds around Indian Lake, formed by melting glaciers, before heading into the Driftless Area. The unnamed segment is a loop trail that includes a former farmstead with significant prairie restorations.

The Table Bluff Segment traverses steep rocky slopes and restored prairies and the southernmost bluff provides a view of Blue Mounds that is a landmark along numerous high points of the IAT in Dane County.

The Cross Plains Segment goes over a dolomite ridge before travelling past the IATA headquarters. You'll return to hiking along the terminal moraine and prairie / oak savannah restorations on the Valley View Segment.

The trail resumes on the Madison Segment, going through University Ridge golf course until connecting with the Verona Segment. You'll continue through the Ice Age Junction Area and its restored prairies.

Badger Prairie County Park and ending in Prairie Moraine County Park. Along the way, you will have scenic views of the Sugar River Valley and ravines cut through the Johnstown Moraine by glacial meltwater.

The views of the Sugar River Valley continue as you climb and descend two plateaus on the Montrose Segment. The Brooklyn Wildlife Segment is the southern end of Dane County and takes you through the glacial outwash/sand prairie and the bedrock hills in the Brooklyn State Wildlife Area.

The Ice Age Trail Alliance (IATA) is a volunteer and member based organization that builds, maintains and promotes the Ice Age Trail. Your registration fee goes to the IATA's Dane County Chapter, a group of volunteers who maintain the Trail through Dane County.

For more information, visit: www.iceagetrail.org

Sign up for Dane Drifters, the hiking program that rewards you for hiking the Dane County segments of the Ice Age National Scenic Trail. Challenge yourself to walk all 38.5 miles of Ice Age Trail (IAT) in Dane County and optional 29 miles of connecting routes. As incentive, the Dane County Chapter of the Ice Age Trail Alliance has developed a program that records your progress and rewards your completion.

How the program works:

1. Complete the registration and waiver portions of this form, remove it from the brochure, and send it with your registration fee to the address shown. Retain the hiking log.
2. Upon receiving form and payment, you'll receive maps and descriptions of the segment to help plan your hikes (including parking areas).
3. Track your progress on the Hiking Log. When you're finished, mail or email completed log to:

Gary Wensing
3006 Hillside Trail
Cross Plains, WI 53528

Remember, connecting routes are optional.

4. The Dane County Chapter will record your name in the Dane Drifters register and send you a Certificate of Achievement and an embroidered patch.
