

LANGLADE COUNTY ICE AGE NATIONAL SCENIC TRAIL USER INFORMATION (As of September 15, 2021)

COVID-19

All five Ice Age Trail segments in the county are open for hiking. However, hikers are encouraged to keep an appropriate distance when encountering other persons on the trail. Also having a facemask, if close encounters occur, is recommended.

CAMPING - Two-thirds of the trail in Langlade County passes through lands owned and managed by the Langlade County Forestry and Recreation Department. No fee primitive camping is allowed up to two weeks along the trail on county forest lands. These lands are shown as a green stippled pattern on the Ice Age Trail Alliance's guidebook and atlas maps. Two fee campsites at Game and Jack Lake in Veterans Memorial on the Summit Moraine Segment are available. The Upper Vantor Lake DCA is showing significant physical impact on the small lakeside site due to constant use so hikers are encouraged to consider adjacent forested area available for No Trace primitive camping. The fee trailside campsites along Game and Jack Lakes in Veterans Memorial Park include a fire ring, picnic table, privy and can accommodate up to four tents. The Ice Age Trail Alliance rules prohibit campfires at DCAs so observance of the rule is appreciated by other hikers and local volunteers.

Four rustic cabins are also available for shelter at the county park. Reservations for the fee sites and cabins can be made by calling 715-623-6214.

The DNR has a primitive camping area south of the trail through the Peters Marsh Wildlife Area. Other than these camp sites, the county does not require advance notice for primitive camping. However, hikers primitive camping on county forestland are encouraged to practice good stewardship. See Leave No Trace Seven Principles \(U.S. National Park Service\) \(nps.gov\)

Areas where camping is not allowed on the segments in the county are as follows:

Kettlebowl - The privately owned lands south of the ski hill at Wisconsin 52 to the berms and the two mile stretch of privately owned property north of the Sherry/Oak Roads trailhead

Lumbercamp - See above note for camping in the Peters Marsh Wildlife Area.

Summit Moraine - Spychalla Lodge area.

Highland Lakes - The private land between the gates on the forest lane north of Kleevers Road.

Parrish Hills - The ATV Shelter and the Prairie State Fishery Area south and north of the Prairie River ford and nearly the third of a trail mile over privately owned lands just west of Pine Road.

WATER AND SUPPLIES - Especially in summer, hikers should arrange for water caches along the trail. The Kettlebowl Segment is especially distant from any natural and developed water sources. The Lumbercamp Segment is also distant from water sources. Dependent on area precipitation, the shallow glacial lakes shown on the map in the state Peters Marsh Wildlife Area west of County S fluctuate greatly. The shallow lakes were reported full and flooding trail sections in the state wildlife area when checked this year.

Depending on area water levels, Baker Lake just west of Highway 52, is a questionable water source. Use with caution. It might require considerable pre-filtering before filtering or UV treatment. Otherwise, hikers should plan on alternative water sources for these segments.

The Summit Moraine, Highland Lakes and Parrish Hills Segments lie in proximity to natural water features. Hikers are urged to boil, filter or chemically treat any water taken from streams or lakes along all segments. Water is available at Veterans Memorial Park.

The City of Antigo has many retail stores that can furnish most supplies needed by hikers.

Grocery stores are also located at Neva Corners, Elcho, Elton, White Lake and a convenience store in Summit Lake north of the trail's US 45/WI 47 highway crossing.

Computer access is available at the public library in Antigo with branches in Elcho and the Village of White Lake. Access hours are available at <https://antigopl.org/contact/> "Mail drops" for thru hikers can be mailed to post offices at Antigo, Deerbrook, Elcho, Summit Lake or White Lake.

Information on lodging, dining facilities or other services is available from the Langlade County Economic Development Corporation, Antigo NCTC, 312 Forrest Avenue, Antigo, WI 54409, (715) 623-2085, www.langladecounty.org or the Antigo/Langlade County Chamber of Commerce toll free number (888) 526-4523 or <http://www.antigochamber.com> .

PARKING - Parking is prohibited on rural county and town roads in Langlade County. County and state traffic safety codes prohibit parking of vehicles on rural roads. Sheriff deputies are authorized to issue citations and impound vehicles parked on rural roads that they consider a traffic safety hazard.

Limited space for parking no longer than 48 hours is available near the County S trailhead, Townline Lake (County T), Deep Woods Lake (Forest Road) and Pence Lake (Pence Lake Road) County Waysides.

Veterans Memorial Park and the Jack Lake Ski Parking lot on County J are on the trail. Parking space was developed by the state DNR near the Summit Moraine and Lumbercamp trailheads on County Trunk A.

For the Kettlebowl Segment, a project to provide closer access to a county-owned lot for safe and legal off-road parking of vehicles near the Sherry Road trail head was recently completed. As part of the project, the Kettlebowl Segment was extended a third of a mile southeast to the new location of the Sherry Road trail head sign and closer to the safe and legal parking space. On Parrish Hills, hikers usually park at the Townline Lake Wayside. A small space provided by the DNR on Pine Road and another lot County H are also available for parking. The Town of Parrish Hall on County H can be also used for parking.

Hikers need to check with local sources on the accessibility of these parking locations when planning a winter venture as many are not plowed regularly. Local ordinance also allows a maximum of 48-hour parking for county forest day use areas, such as waysides.

The parking lot at Kettlebowl Ski Area is gated but there is space between the highway and the gate for a few vehicles. Make sure vehicles are clear of the gate for authorized traffic.

The county enforces an ordinance prohibiting unattended vehicles parked along local roads.

Hikers planning to leave vehicles parked overnight at any of the above legal parking locations should contact the Langlade County Sheriff's Department with trip information and car details.

The office is in the Safety Building, 840 Clermont Street, Antigo or call 715-627-6411.

The county's 9-1-1 emergency telephone system can identify location of callers with cell phones that have a position location feature when dialing 9-1-1. However, coverage is spotty in less developed areas.

INFORMATION SOURCES

A good information source is the trail guidebook and atlas available for sale from the Ice Age Trail Alliance, 2110 Main Street, Cross Plains, WI 53528 or iceagetrail.org

Current trail alerts and conditions and are also posted on the alliance website at iceagetrail.org .

The Guthook GPS (Global Positioning System) Ice Age Trail app is commercially available for certain phones. The app is a good backup to have when uncertain of a location on the trail.

OTHER USERS - The trail largely crosses public lands managed primarily for timber production by the Langlade County Forestry and Recreation Department. Logging frequently occurs on one or more of the segments each year.

A portion of the land along the Kettlebowl Segment is owned by BTG Pactual Group. The lands, including the acreage covered under a conservation and trail easement acquired by the state, is also managed for timber production. State-owned lands located along the Lumbercamp and Parrish Hills Segments has occasional logging activity. Information about logging activity on state, county or private lands traversed by the trail can be obtained from the chapter coordinator. Portions of all Ice Age National Scenic Trail segments in the county intersect or use the county's official snowmobile and ATV trail systems.

In 2018, the Department of Natural Resources approved seasonal equestrian use on a portion of the Lumbercamp Segment through the Peters Marsh State Wildlife Area between County S and County A.

A bike route which parallels the hiking trail by following county trunk highways. Information for the bicycle option is available from the chapter coordinator.

SEASONAL USE - The best time to hike the Ice Age Trail in the county is during the spring or fall. Besides grassy stretches not mowed regularly, the heat, insects and special provision of water make summer less desirable for hiking.

The county trail chapter annually organized group hikes since 1975. However, due to the pandemic, no chapter hikes are scheduled currently.

All segments of the trail are open during the fall hunting seasons, except for the Summit Moraine Segment between U.S. 45/WI 47 and County Trunk B. Hikers are encouraged to wear safety apparel during the fall hunting seasons on all segments. For season hunting information check at <https://dnr.wisconsin.gov/topic/hunt/dates.html> .

The trail offers challenging experiences in winter for hikers, cross country skiers or snowshoers. Except for the Kettlebowl and Summit Moraine Segments through the Jack Lake Cross Country Ski Area, the trail is not groomed for skiing or snowshoeing so hikers should be prepared with gear. Winter hikers are encouraged to avoid disturbing the groomed track maintained for cross country skiers.

Portions of trail on the county's snowmobile trail system are groomed for that activity. Also parking options at trailheads and day use areas are limited due to no plowing of snow.

MISCELLANEOUS - This information was developed in response to trail inquiries.
